Smoke Alarm Facts

- Smoke alarms are the residential fire safety success story of the past 30 years.
- Each year, three out of five home fire deaths result from fires in homes with no smoke alarms or no working smoke alarms.
- The risk of dying in a reported home fire is cut in half in homes with working smoke alarms.
- Smoke alarms fail most of the time because of missing, disconnected, or dead batteries.
- Ninety six percent of all homes have at least one smoke alarm.
- Almost five million households still do not have any smoke alarms.
- Overall, three-quarters of all U.S. homes have at least one working smoke alarm.
- Smoke Alarms should be replaced every ten years.
- Smoke Alarms should be installed in every bedroom, outside each separate sleeping area, and on every level of the home, including the basement. Larger homes may require additional smoke alarms to provide a minimum level of protection.
